

PSYCHOLOGY MINOR

A minor in psychology provides students with an understanding of how humans think and behave, making it a valuable addition to any major. A wide offering of classes allows students to delve into the intricacies of the brain and investigate its effects on human interaction. Topics include abnormal psychology, spiritual psychology, developmental psychology, lifespan psychology, multicultural psychology, and more. The Psychology minor requires successful completion of 18 credits in social science-related courses.

Best Fit Majors: All Majors

Code	Title	Credits
Required Psychology Minor Courses
Select three of the following:		9
LA-101	Introduction to Psychology
LA-108	Psychology of Abnormal Behavior
LA-145	The Psychology of Video Games
LA-214	Developmental Psychology
LA-245	Introduction to Counseling Theory
LA-255	Psychology Across the Lifespan
Elective Courses
Select three of the following:		9
LA-216	Positive Psychology
LA-304	Psychological Disorders of Childhood
LA-305	Introduction to Case Management
LA-315	Personality Theory
LA-325	Social Psychology
LA-345	Group Dynamics
LA-355	Multicultural Psychology
LA-400	Principles and Theoretical Perspectives on Parenting
Total Credits		18